Ara D.

Emercury translates our email marketing campaigns to more leads.

"The quality of the customer support team at Emercury is what impresses me the most about this organization. I like how I am allowed to either create my own email templates or make use of html editor to code a template from scratch. Its email automation campaign functionality makes it possible to send emails to web visitors and customers, based on triggers like what part of our email they click on..."

Experts In Deliverability

"Having access to 3 experts who truly guide me to better engagement and deliverability. Anytime I need assistance, the appropriate expert is readily available to help me accomplish whatever I need. These guys aren't your typical support guys - they are seasoned industry experts who provide solutions as well as explanations, and even assistance in doing the legwork. I don't have to ever worry..."

Scott C.

Principal Owner @ 360 Strategy Group

Exceptional delivery and dedication from the team

"The team at Emercury is nothing short of amazing when onboarding new clients. They develop a plan to make sure you are inboxing, quickly. The attention needed for this process is enormous, but they are the leading experts in delivery from my 20+ years of experience. The platform is clean, intuitive and reliable. Plus, they are constantly adding new features to keep ahead of the end users..."

Simple wireframe:

Note: I didn't draw a wireframe for the last part (the "Ready to win..." section) because I think it's pretty straightforward. Use the same style as all the other section, provide lots of white space, big CTA button, and a high-contrast color to grab the reader's attention -- and we'll be just fine. :)
